

Mingrelian Grammar metadata

When I was working on The Indigenous Languages of the Caucasus, vol. 1, the expert on Mingrelian who had agreed to write a grammatical sketch of the language did not deliver on schedule. Eventually I learned that he would not complete it. I had no choice but to write the article myself. I had done only a little work on the syntax of case usage. Hence, nearly all of the example data are from published works, as cited.

American English is used throughout the article, including glosses of sentences.

This version of the article provides correction of all errors I know of in the article.

In checking my examples against the originals in KHUBUA 1937, I was unable to locate examples (74) and (145). I have left the locations as they are cited in the secondary sources I used.

I am grateful to George Hewitt for a list of corrigenda for this article.

Alice C. Harris, 28 February 2023